

Meeting Notes — Integratron

Creative Director: Maddy Angstreich

Designer: Brandon Krisko

- Shorten line length
 - If it goes across the full width of the page it'll be too hard to read
- Add hover states with the colored underlines for the section titles
 - When you hover, the line extends across the word, like on IDEO's site
- Incorporate image into header rather than vector illustration
 - also add more images into the scrolling content so the user isn't just staring at type the whole time
- Add a footer that sits at the bottom of the page
 - each button jumps the user back to that section on the page
 - add more information; sources, citations, etc
- Add fixed header to the top that scrolls down the page with the user
 - same function as the footer, less information
- Background color
 - dark grey rather than black for easier reading
 - color can change/fade for each section
